

Quality Measure Improvement Guide for Immobility

Problem: Maintaining or improving residents' range of motion—and therefore their daily living activities—is critical. Immobility is one of ten quality measures (QMs) used to evaluate your facility's overall performance, and is assessed on these four CMS regulations:

F317 1. A resident who enters the facility without a limited range of motion does not experience reduction in range of motion unless the resident's clinical condition demonstrates that a reduction in range of motion is unavoidable; and See Interpretive Guidelines at F318.

F318 2. A resident with a limited range of motion receives appropriate treatment and services to increase range of motion and/or to prevent further decrease in range of motion.

Intent §483.25(e): To ensure that the resident reaches and maintains his or her highest level of range of motion and to prevent avoidable decline of range of motion.

F310 A resident's abilities in activities of daily living do not diminish unless circumstances of the individual's clinical condition demonstrate that diminution was unavoidable. This includes the resident's ability to: (i) Bathe, dress, and groom; (ii) Transfer and ambulate; (iii) Toilet; (iv) Eat; and (v) Use speech, language, or other functional communication systems.

Intent §483.25(a): The facility must ensure that a resident's abilities in ADLs do not deteriorate unless the deterioration was unavoidable.

F309 Each resident must receive and the facility must provide the necessary care and services to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental, and psychosocial well-being, in accordance with the comprehensive assessment and plan of care.

Intent §483.25: The facility must ensure that the resident obtains optimal improvement or does not deteriorate within the limits of a resident's right to refuse treatment, and within the limits of recognized pathology and the normal aging process.

Solution: To help improve your immobility quality outcomes—and its CMS Five-Star quality rating—Briggs has assembled the precise documentation, charting, education and training, and medical supplies you'll need. Remember, every Briggs form integrates industry best practices, and has been recognized by customers as best-of-class.
